Name of avery	Conorio information
Responsible institution Data producer: Central Bureau of Statistics, www.cbs.gov.il Data producer Stational Bureau of Statistics, www.cbs.gov.il Data frow of the survey is to gather budget components of urban households and additional data that characterize the living standards of those households from different aspects, e.g. patterns of consumption, level and composition of income, housing conditions, etc. The survey is also used for market research, as a model for the prediction of consumer behavior, research on inducet tax incidence on various population groups etc. To obtain the components of household budgets and to determine the weights of each component in the "consumption backet" that is used in computing the Consumer Price Index. To provide the basis for policies set by government ministries, and for the follow-up of policy implementation. Structure of data source Exequency Annual since 1997. Households in urban localities only. Sampling procedure The principal frame for sampling was the municipal tax (Arnona) file. The sample was drawn in two stages. In the first stage, a statistic sample of declarities was drawn. In the second stage—dweltings were sampled. By a random-systematic method, in each locality included in the sample. The main sample of dwelling amin is in student doculative was drawn. In the second stage—dweltings was supplemented by samples of dwelling units in student doculative was drawn. In the second stage—dweltings were sampled, by a random-systematic method, in each locality included in the sample. The main sample of dwelling with in the princerable main for sampling from a special frame of new building. Sample size The sample consists of $230 dwellings in 127 urban localities. Collection period The sample consists of $230 dwellings in 127 urban localities. Collection mode Description of instruments From ach household, data were collected as follows: (1) A questionnaire on the composition of the household. The household, The household side of the invertigation of the	Generic information Name of survey. Howard of Europe distance Survey. 2022 2000 2000 2000 2000 2000 2000 2
Data provider. National Insurance Institute of Isruel, www. bill gov. if The aim of the survey is to agather badget components of urban households and additional data that churacterize the living standards of those households from different aspects, e.g. patterns of consumption. Ievel and composition of internation, storage conditions, etc. The survey is also used for market research, as a model for the prediction of consumer behavior, research on indirect tas incidence on various population groups etc. To obtain the components of household badges and to determine the weights of each component in the recomponent in the weights of each component in the recomponent in the maintains, and for the follow-up of policy implementation. Structure of data source Cross-sectional, with monthly rotation of households. Propages Annual Since 1997. Survey, Yeave Annual Since 1997. Survey (Wave) Annual Since 1997. Survey (Wave) Annual Since 1997. Survey (Wave) Annual Since 1997. The principal frame for sampling was the municipal tax (Arnona) file. The sample was drawn in two stages, as stratified sample of localities was drawn. In the second stage-dwellings were sampled, by a random-systematic method, in each locality included in the sample. The main sample of dwellings was supplemented by samples of dwellings were sampled, by a random-systematic method, in each locality included in the sample. The main sample of dwellings was supplemented by samples of dwellings were sampled from a special frame of new building. The sample consists of $2.50 where was updated thing the survey year by the addition of new dwellings, which were sampled from a special frame of new building. From Innuary 1997 through January 1998. The investigation was spread out on the whole period, to represent all weeks of the present of t
Main objective The aim of the survey is to gather budget components of urban households and additional data the characterize the living standards of those households from different aspects, e.g. patterns of consumption, level and composition of nutrition, level and composition of nutrition, level and composition of nutrition, level and composition of income, housing conditions, etc. The survey is abo used for market research, as a model for the prediction of consume rehavior, search on indirect tax incidence on various population progresses. To obtain the components of household budgets and to determine the weights of each component in the "consumption" basket" that is used in computing the Consumer Price Index. To provide the basis for policies set by government ministrices, and for the follow-up of policy implementation. Structure of data source Annual since 1997. Annual since 1997 survey. Annual since 1997. Annual since 1997 survey. Survey year. Wave Description The principal frame for sampling was the municipal use (Arnona) file. The sample was drawn in two stages, in the firm stage, as stratified sample of Incalities was drawn. In the second stage—dwellings was supplemented by samples of dwelling units in student domatines was drawn. In the second stage—dwellings was supplemented by samples of dwelling units in student domatines was drawn. In the second stage—dwellings was supplemented by samples of dwelling units in student domatines, and the sample of dwellings was supplemented by samples of dwelling units in student domatines, and the sample of dwellings was supplemented by samples of dwelling units in student domatines, and the sample of dwellings was supplemented by samples of dwelling units in student domatines, and the sample of dwellings was supplemented by samples of dwelling units in student domatines, and the sample of dwellings units in student domatines, and the sample of dwellings units in student domatines and sample of dwellings in in the proceed by samples of dwellings units in st	Responsible institution
Frequency Annual since 1997. Survey year / Wave 1997 survey. Coverage Jouseholds in urban localities only. Sampling procedure The principal frame for sampling was the municipal tax (Armona) file. The sample was drawn in two stages. In the first stage, a stratified sample of localities was drawn. In the second stage -dwellings were sampled, by a random-systematic method, in each locality included in the sample. The main sample of dwellings was supplemented by samples of dwelling units in student dominiories, absorption centers, caravans and cashins and in the protect bousing for the elderly. Moreover, the sample was updated during the survey year by the addition of new dwellings, which were sample size The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 d	Main objective	The aim of the survey is to gather budget components of urban households and additional data that characterize the living standards of those households from different aspects, e.g. patterns of consumption, level and composition of nutrition, level and composition of income, housing conditions, etc. The survey is also used for market research, as a model for the prediction of consumer behavior, research on indirect tax incidence on various population groups etc. To obtain the components of household budgets and to determine the weights of each component in the "consumption basket" that is used in computing the Consumer Price Index. To provide the basis for policies set by government
Frequency Annual since 1997. Survey year / Wave 1997 survey. Coverage Jouseholds in urban localities only. Sampling procedure The principal frame for sampling was the municipal tax (Armona) file. The sample was drawn in two stages. In the first stage, a stratified sample of localities was drawn. In the second stage -dwellings were sampled, by a random-systematic method, in each locality included in the sample. The main sample of dwellings was supplemented by samples of dwelling units in student dominiories, absorption centers, caravans and cashins and in the protect bousing for the elderly. Moreover, the sample was updated during the survey year by the addition of new dwellings, which were sample size The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 dwellings in 127 urban localities. The sample consists of $250 d	G
Survey year / Wave 1997 survey. Coverage Jourselooklas in urban localities only. Sampling The principal frame for sampling was the municipal tax (Arnona) file. The sample was drawn in two stages, a stratified sample of localities was drawn. In the second stage -dwellings were sampled, by a random-systematic method, in each locality included in the sample. The main sample of dwellings were sampled, by a random-systematic method, in each locality included in the sample. The main sample of wellings were sumpled, by a random-systematic method, in each locality included in the sample. The main sample of wellings were sumpled from a special frame of new building. The sample was updated during the survey year by the addition of new dwellings, which were sampled from a special frame of new building. The sample consists of $230 dwellings in 127 urban localities. Collection period From January 1997 through January 1998. The investigation was spread out on the whole period, to represent all weeks of the year. Collection mode Direct interview (face-to-face) and diaries. Direct interview (face-to-face) and diaries. Collection finstruments from each brousehold and were collected as follows: (1) A questionnaire on the composition of the household. Basic demographic and economic data for each member of the household (age, sex, country of birth, year of immigration, employment status, etc.) These data were filled out by the enumerator accordingly the answers of the investigated persons. (2) A biweekly dainy of all daily expenses of all members of the household. The household filled in this diary. (3) A questionnaire on large or uncommon expenses and on income, related to the 3 or 12 months that preceded the date of the interview (in accordance with the rairy of the investigated items). These data were filled out by the enumerator accordinally the answers of the household. Household head For the major of the household includes members who are soldiers or children studying in boarding schools. New definition a Households in urban localities only.
Sampling Sampling procedure The principal frame for sampling was the municipal tax (Arnona) file. The sample was drawn in two stages. In the first stage, a stratified sample of localities was drawn. In the second stage -dwellings were sampled, by a random-systematic method, in each locality included in the sample. The main sample of dwellings were sumpled from a special frame of new building. The sample drom a special frame of new building. The sample drom a special frame of new building. The sample drom a special frame of new building. The sample drom a special frame of new building. The sample consists of $220 dwellings in 127 urban localities. Collection period From January 1997 through January 1998. The investigation was spread out on the whole period, to represent all weeks of the year. Collection mode Description of instruments From ach household, data were collected as follows: (1) A questionnaire on the composition of the household. Basic demographic and economic data for each member of the household (age, sex, country of birth, year of immigration, employment status, etc.) These data were filled out by the enumerator accordingly the answers of the investigated persons. (2) A hweekyl duriny of all daily expenses of all members of the household. The household filled in this diary. (3) A questionnaire on large or uncommon expenses and on income, related to the 3 or 12 months that preceded the date of the interview (in accordance with the rainty of the investigated items). These data were filled out by the enumerator accordingly the answers of the household. Betalitions Group of persons living in the same dwelling most days of the week with a common budget for expenses and for expenses and for income tax of the household with the analysis of the same of the household will be accordinately the answers of the household will be expensed in the process of the household will be the proc
The principal frame for sampling was the municipal tax (Arnona) file. The sample was drawn in two sadarsh in the sample, a stratified sample of localities was drawn. In the second stage—dwellings were sampled, by a random-systematic method, in each locality included in the sample. The main sample of dwellings was supplemented by samples of dwelling units in student domitriories, absorption centres, caravans and cabins and in the protected thousing for the elderly. Moreover, the sample was updated during the survey year by the addition of new dwellings, which were sampled from a special frame of new building. Sample size The sample consists of $220 dwellings in 127 urban localities. Collection From January 1997 through January 1998. The investigation was spread out on the whole period, to represent all weeks of the year. Collection mode Description of instruments (1) A questionnaire on the composition of the household. Basic demographic and economic data for each member of the household (data were collected as follows: (2) A biweekly diary of all daily expenses of all members of the household. The household filled in this diary. (3) A questionnaire on large or uncommon expenses and on income, related to the 3 or 12 months that preceded the date of the interview (in accordance with the rarity of the investigated items). These data were filled out by the enumerator accordingly the answers of the household. Definitions Formula of persons living in the same dwelling most days of the week with a common budget for expenses and food. A household linelades members who are soldiers or children studying in boarding schools. New definition as of 1995: the economic head of household. The consended of household is the main earner of the household is the entire simply dependent considers to be head of household is the main earner of the household is income, the survey. The main reasons for non-person of the persons aged 15-17, and household where the only employed person is aged 18-1(except in households consistin		Inousenoids in tribain locations only.
stage. a stratified sample of localities was drawn. In the second stage-dwellings were sampled, by a random-systematic method, in each locality included in the sample. The main sample of dwellings was upstages of dwelling units in student dormitories, absorption centers, caravans and cabins and in the protected housing for the elderly. Moreover, the sample was updated during the survey year by the addition of new dwellings, which were sampled from a special frame of new building. The sample consists of $230 dwellings in 127 urban localities. Collection From January 1997 through January 1998. The investigation was spread out on the whole period, to represent all weeks of the year. Collection mode Direct interview (face-to-face) and diaries. Description of instruments (1) A questiomaire on the composition of the household. Basic demographic and economic data for each member of the household (age, sex, country of birth, year of immigration, employment status, etc.) These data were filled out by the enumerator accordingly the answers of the investigated persons. (2) A biweekly diary of all daily expenses of all members of the household. The household filled in this diary. (3) A questionnaire on large or uncommon expenses and on income, related to the 3 or 12 months that preceded the date of the interview (in accordance with the rarity of the investigated items). These data were filled out by the enumerator accordingly the answers of the household. Potentitions Household Group of persons living in the same dwelling most days of the week with a common budget for expenses and food. A household is included an expense of the household is the main earner of the household where the is more than one person in the lousehold. The economic head of household is the main earner of the household where the is more than one person in the brousehold. The economic head of household is the main earner of the household, are the engineers of the sampled dwellings were unoccupied (empty, served for commercial purpose, etc.)		The principal frame for sampling was the municipal tay (Arnona) file. The sample was drawn in two stages. In the first Collection Period From January 1997 through January 1998. The investigation was spread out on the whole period, to represent all weeks of the year. Collection mode Description of instruments Collection mode Description of instruments (1) A questionnaire on the composition of the household. Basic demographic and economic data for each member of the household (age, sex, country of birth, year of immigration, employment status, etc.) These data were filled out by the enumerator accordingly the answers of the investigated persons. (2) A bisweekly diary of all dalily expenses of all members of the household. The household filled in this diary. (3) A questionnaire on large or uncommon expenses and on income, related to the 3 or 12 months that preceded the date of the interview (in accordance with the rarrity of the investigated items). These data were filled out by the enumerator accordingly the answers of the household. Brough of persons living in the same dwelling most days of the week with a common budget for expenses and food. A household head of household includes members who are soldiers or children studying in boarding schools. Row definition as of 1995: the economic head of household. The economic head of household is the main earner of the household, i.e. the employed person (including a member of the permanent army) who usually works the most hours per week. If there is more than one person in the household who fits the definition of head of household on the network of the person whom the respondent considers to be head of household of the semble of the person whom the respondent considers to be head of household where the only employed person is aged 15-17). Data quality aspects Non-response error About 10% of the sampled dwellings were unoccupied (empty, served for commercial purposes, etc.) or were occupied by tenants who did not belong to the survey population (tourists, diplomats, etc.) In the remaining dwellings there were 6900 households that were desired for investigation. From these, 5677	Sampinig procedure	stage, a stratified sample of localities was drawn. In the second stage -dwellings were sampled, by a random-systematic method, in each locality included in the sample. The main sample of dwellings was supplemented by samples of dwelling units in student dormitories, absorption centers, caravans and cabins and in the protected housing for the elderly. Moreover, the sample was updated during the survey year by the addition of new dwellings, which were
From January 1997 through January 1998. The investigation was spread out on the whole period, to represent all weeks of the year.	Sample size
Oblestion mode Direct interview (face-to-face) and diaries. Prom each household, data were collected as follows: (1) A questionnaire on the composition of the household. Basic demographic and economic data for each member of the household (age, see, ecountry of birth, year of immigration, employment status, etc.) These data were filled out by the enumerator accordingly the answers of the investigated persons. (2) A biveckly diary of all daily expenses of all members of the household. The household filled in this diary. (3) A questionnaire on large or uncommon expenses and on income, related to the 3 or 12 months that preceded the date of the interview (in accordance with the rarrity of the investigated items). These data were filled out by the enumerator accordingly the answers of the household. Broughold includes members who are soldiers or children studying in boarding schools. New definition as of 1995: the economic head of household. The economic head of household is the main earner of the household head household; i.e. the employed person (including an ember of the permanent army) usually works the most hours per week. If there is more than one person in the household who fits the definition of head of household is defined as the head of household where the only employed person is aged 15-17). Data quality aspects Non-response error About 10% of the sampled dwellings were unoccupied (empty, served for commercial purposes, etc.) or were occupied by tenants who did not belong to the survey population (tourists, diplomats, etc.) In the remaining dwellings there were 6990 households that were destined for investigation; thereof, 5230 were urban households and those were used for the survey. The main reasons for non-participation were refusals, dropouts and absence. Blighbility Definition of employment The employed comprise persons who worked at least one hour in the last three-month period. Beach household member aged 15 or over. Definition of employment The employed comprise persons who worked at l	Collection
Description of instruments From each household, data were collected as follows:	Collection period	From January 1997 through January 1998. The investigation was spread out on the whole period, to represent all weeks of the year.
(1) A questionnaire on the composition of the household. Basic demographic and economic data for each member of the household (age, sex, country of birth, year of immigration, employment status, etc.) These data were filled out by the enumerator accordingly the answers of the investigated persons. (2) A biweekly diary of all daily expenses of all members of the household. The household filled in this diary. (3) A questionnaire on large or uncommon expenses and on income, related to the 3 or 12 months that preceded the data of the interview (in accordance with the rarity of the investigated items). These data were filled out by the enumerator accordingly the answers of the household. Definitions Household Group of persons living in the same dwelling most days of the week with a common budget for expenses and food. A household includes members who are soldiers or children studying in boarding schools. Household head New definition as of 1995: the economic head of household is the main earner of the household, i.e. the employed person (including a member of the permanent army) who usually works the most hours per week. If there is more than one person in the household who fits the definition of head of household. Note: the head of household is aged 18+ (except in households consisting solely of persons aged 15-17, and households where the only employed person is aged 15+ (except in households consisting solely of persons aged 15-17, and households where the only employed person is aged 15+ (except in households consisting solely of persons aged 15-17, and households where the only employed person is aged 15+ (except in households consisting solely of persons aged 15- or were 6990 households that were destined for investigation. From these, 5677 households participated in the survey, which were 82% of those that were intended for investigation. From these, 5677 households and those were used for the survey. The main reasons for non-participation were refusals, dropouts and absence. Item non-response / Direc	Collection mode	Direct interview (face-to-face) and diaries.
Definitions	Description of instruments	 (1) A questionnaire on the composition of the household. Basic demographic and economic data for each member of the household (age, sex, country of birth, year of immigration, employment status, etc.) These data were filled out by the enumerator accordingly the answers of the investigated persons. (2) A biweekly diary of all daily expenses of all members of the household. The household filled in this diary. (3) A questionnaire on large or uncommon expenses and on income, related to the 3 or 12 months that preceded the date of the interview (in accordance with the rarity of the investigated items). These data were filled out by the enumerator
Household Group of persons living in the same dwelling most days of the week with a common budget for expenses and food. A household includes members who are soldiers or children studying in boarding schools. Household head New definition as of 1995: the economic head of household. The economic head of household is the main earner of the household; i.e. the employed person (including a member of the permanent army) who usually works the most hours per week. If there is more than one person in the household who fits the definition of head of household or if the household. Note: the head of household is aged 18+ (except in households consisting solely of persons aged 15-17, and households where the only employed person is aged 15-17). Data quality aspects Non-response error About 10% of the sampled dwellings were unoccupied (empty, served for commercial purposes, etc.) or were occupied by tenants who did not belong to the survey population (tourists, diplomats, etc.) In the remaining dwellings there were 6990 households that were destined for investigation. From these, 5677 households participated in the survey, which were 82% of those that were intended for investigation; thereof, 5230 were urban households and those were used for the survey. The main reasons for non-participation were refusals, dropouts and absence. Item non-response / Direct taxes imposed on current income-Income Tax, National Insurance and State health Insurance payments were computed routinely according to taxation tables. Personal tax information Eligibility Each household member aged 15 or over. Definition of employment The employed comprise persons who worked at least one hour in the last three-month period. Monthly amounts. Income Reference period Three-month period preceding the interview. Monthly amounts. Amounts are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed. Amounts are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contrib
About 10% of the sampled dwellings were unoccupied (empty, served for commercial purposes, etc.) or were occupied by tenants who did not belong to the survey population (tourists, diplomats, etc.) In the remaining dwellings there were 6990 households that were destined for investigation. From these, 5677 households participated in the survey, which were 82% of those that were intended for investigation; thereof, 5230 were urban households and those were used for the survey. The main reasons for non-participation were refusals, dropouts and absence. Item non-response / Direct taxes imposed on current income-Income Tax, National Insurance and State health Insurance payments were computed routinely according to taxation tables. Weighting Labour market information Eligibility Each household member aged 15 or over. Definition of employment The employed comprise persons who worked at least one hour in the last three-month period. Income Reference period Three-month period preceding the interview. Unit of time Monthly amounts. Unit of collection Household for all income sources (plus individual incomes for income from employed work, self-employed work and work related pensions). Amounts are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed. Restrictions	Household Household head	New definition as of 1995: the economic head of household. The economic head of household is the main earner of the household; i.e. the employed person (including a member of the permanent army) who usually works the most hours per week. If there is more than one person in the household who fits the definition of head of household or if the household has no earner, the person whom the respondent considers to be head of household is defined as the head of household. Note: the head of household is aged 18+ (except in households consisting solely of persons aged 15-17, and households
About 10% of the sampled dwellings were unoccupied (empty, served for commercial purposes, etc.) or were occupied by tenants who did not belong to the survey population (tourists, diplomats, etc.) In the remaining dwellings there were 6990 households that were destined for investigation. From these, 5677 households participated in the survey, which were 82% of those that were intended for investigation; thereof, 5230 were urban households and those were used for the survey. The main reasons for non-participation were refusals, dropouts and absence. Item non-response / Direct taxes imposed on current income-Income Tax, National Insurance and State health Insurance payments were computed routinely according to taxation tables. Weighting Labour market information Eligibility Each household member aged 15 or over. Definition of employment The employed comprise persons who worked at least one hour in the last three-month period. Income Reference period Three-month period preceding the interview. Unit of time Monthly amounts. Unit of collection Household for all income sources (plus individual incomes for income from employed work, self-employed work and work related pensions). Amounts are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed. Restrictions	Doto quality agnests imputation computed routinely according to taxation tables. Weighting Labour market information Eligibility Each household member aged 15 or over. Definition of employment The employed comprise persons who worked at least one hour in the last three-month period. Income Reference period Three-month period preceding the interview. Unit of time Monthly amounts. Unit of collection Household for all income sources (plus individual incomes for income from employed work, self-employed work and work related pensions). Taxes and contributions Amounts are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed and the contributions were imputed and the contributions are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed and the contributions are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed and the contributions are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed and the contributions are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed and the contributions are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed and the contributions are collected gross of taxes and contributions.	Non-response error	About 10% of the sampled dwellings were unoccupied (empty, served for commercial purposes, etc.) or were occupied by tenants who did not belong to the survey population (tourists, diplomats, etc.) In the remaining dwellings there were 6990 households that were destined for investigation. From these, 5677 households participated in the survey, which were 82% of those that were intended for investigation; thereof, 5230 were urban households and those were used for the survey. The main reasons for non-participation were refusals, dropouts and absence.
imputation computed routinely according to taxation tables. Weighting Labour market information Eligibility Each household member aged 15 or over. Definition of employment The employed comprise persons who worked at least one hour in the last three-month period. Income Reference period Three-month period preceding the interview. Unit of time Monthly amounts. Unit of collection Household for all income sources (plus individual incomes for income from employed work, self-employed work and work related pensions). Taxes and contributions Amounts are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed and the contributions were imputed and the contributions are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed and the contributions are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed and the contributions are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed and the contributions are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed and the contributions are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed and the contributions are collected gross of taxes and contributions.	Item non-response /	Direct taxes imposed on current income-Income Tax, National Insurance and State health Insurance payments were
Weighting Labour market information Eligibility Each household member aged 15 or over. Definition of employment The employed comprise persons who worked at least one hour in the last three-month period. Income Reference period Three-month period preceding the interview. Unit of time Monthly amounts. Unit of collection Household for all income sources (plus individual incomes for income from employed work, self-employed work and work related pensions). Taxes and contributions Amounts are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed and the contributions were imputed and the contributions are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed and the contributions are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed and the contributions are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed and the contributions are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed and the contributions are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed and the contributions are collected gross of taxes and contributions.	imputation
Eligibility Each household member aged 15 or over. Definition of employment The employed comprise persons who worked at least one hour in the last three-month period. Income Reference period Three-month period preceding the interview. Unit of time Monthly amounts. Unit of collection Household for all income sources (plus individual incomes for income from employed work, self-employed work and work related pensions). Taxes and contributions Amounts are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed to the securit	Weighting
Definition of employment The employed comprise persons who worked at least one hour in the last three-month period. Income Reference period Three-month period preceding the interview. Unit of time Monthly amounts. Unit of collection Household for all income sources (plus individual incomes for income from employed work, self-employed work and work related pensions). Taxes and contributions Amounts are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed.
Reference period Three-month period preceding the interview. Unit of time Monthly amounts. Unit of collection Household for all income sources (plus individual incomes for income from employed work, self-employed work and work related pensions). Taxes and contributions Amounts are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed. Restrictions	Eligibility
Reference period Three-month period preceding the interview. Unit of time Monthly amounts. Unit of collection Household for all income sources (plus individual incomes for income from employed work, self-employed work and work related pensions). Taxes and contributions Amounts are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed. Restrictions	Definition of employment	The employed comprise persons who worked at least one hour in the last three-month period.
Unit of time Monthly amounts. Unit of collection Household for all income sources (plus individual incomes for income from employed work, self-employed work and work related pensions). Taxes and contributions Amounts are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed. Restrictions	Income
Unit of collection Household for all income sources (plus individual incomes for income from employed work, self-employed work and work related pensions). Taxes and contributions Amounts are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed. Restrictions work related pensions). Taxes and contributions Amounts are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed. Restrictions	Unit of time Restrictions		work related pensions).
	Taxes and contributions	Amounts are collected gross of taxes and contributions, and income taxes and social security contributions were imputed.
Additional remarks	Restrictions
	Additional remarks		